

CHECK LIST

Preeclampsia superimposed on Chronic Hypertension

HELP SYNDROME

PRESENTATION

RISK

MX

Proteinuria

Urinary protein excretion is considered abnormal in pregnant women when it exceeds 300 mg/24 hours at anytime during gestation, a level that usually correlates with 1+ on urine dipstick. Proteinuria documented before pregnancy or before 20 weeks' gestation suggests preexisting renal disease.